King Edward school holds appeal dinner

King Edward VI High School for Girls in Edgbaston held a dinner to raise additional funds for its 125 Bursary Appeal.

The dinner was a key event in this appeal which has been launched this year, the 125th anniversary of KEHS, to raise funds for its means-tested bursaries scheme.

The guest of honour was Lord Jones, who gave an entertaining after-dinner speech. This was followed by a raffle and an auction of items and experiences which had all been donated.
