

Exam joy is all a sister act

IT'S a double celebration for one Sutton Coldfield family after two sisters came top of the class in their exam results.

Victoria Solari is celebrating after achieving an impressive 11 A* stars in her GCSE results, just days after 18-year-old sister Cathy notched up five A* grades in her A Levels.

Victoria, 16, is planning to stay on King Edward VI High School for Girls in Edgbaston where she will be studying for A levels in French, Spanish, geography, maths and further maths.

Cathy, who also studied at the school, is heading to the University of Cambridge and has ambitions to become an astronaut.

Principal Sarah Evans said: "Cathy and Victoria's A* grades are testimony to the flair and passion they share for their subjects.

"We are very proud of both sisters and all of their classmates."

The school saw 90.5 per cent of all GCSE results graded at A* and A, while 60 per cent of all exams received an A* grade.

In the family: Sisters Cathy and Vicky Solari are both celebrating their A-level and GCSE results.
